

I have been listening to K-LOVE for almost 10 years. This radio station (along with other local Christian stations) has provided support and encouragement for the many facets in my life. Their prayer line and pastoral support has also provided great comfort and guidance, not only for me and my family, but also for many others in my community. If K-LOVE, along with other Christian stations, were to be displaced by an LPFM broadcaster in my community, there would no longer be any "SAFE" radio stations out there for my family to listen to. I have never listened to such a family-friendly, family-focused, and family-oriented radio station like K-LOVE and other Christian stations like K-DOVE. You will NOT find any of the secular radio stations currently on, or any type of secular programming, that will provide the guidance and support for life's troubles and struggles the way K-LOVE and many of the other Christian radio stations do. Removing these valuable stations, valued by many (it should be noted), will eliminate the choice of listening to "SAFE" and family-focused programming on the radio. This would be a great loss. Personally, I would stop listening to English radio and most Spanish radio. Thank you for the opportunity to voice my opinion on this.
